

All Our Rights In Law - Questions

A new human rights law could include the following rights:

- > Adequate, accessible and affordable food
- > Adequate housing
- > The highest possible standard of physical and mental health
- > A social security safety net
- > Take part in cultural life
- > A healthy environment
- > Specific rights for disabled people, women, black and minority ethnic people, older people and LGBTI people

1. What difference do you think it would make to have these rights written into Scotland's laws? Your answer can be about one of the rights, some of them, or all of them.
2. Are there any people or communities whose rights seem particularly at risk?
3. What does government need to do to make sure this new human rights law makes a real difference to people's lives?
4. Everyone will be able to use this new law to claim their human rights. What kind of practical information, support or resources do you think people in your community will need to do this?
5. What is your final message to the National Taskforce and the Scottish Government?
